ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

invention concerns a method, and The the related apparatuses, for authorizing mandates of payment through credit instruments, a user being the owner of at least one an credit instrument, which is issued by institution (21) and of a telephone (20), which is provided functionality of sending and receiving with the radiotelephony messages, the method comprising the phases of A. the issuing institution checks the validity of the credit instrument, and B. the issuing institution sends to commercial site a confirmation or refusal authorization of the mandate of payment, C. sending from the use's telephone (20) to a radiotelephony message managing device (22) of a service center (21) of the issuing institution a radiotelephony message comprising a commercial site identification code, the amount of money and/or instrument identification data and/or user identification data and/or telephone identification data.